

MASTER OF SCIENCE IN CRIMINAL JUSTICE

In 2015 and 2016, U.S. News & World Report ranked our on-line Master's degree programs as #1 in the United States for Criminal Justice. The on-line Master of Science program in Criminal Justice is designed primarily for persons, regardless of prior academic or work experience in criminal justice, who are seeking a terminal master's degree and do not intend to continue to the Ph.D. It works well for nontraditional students who have full-time jobs because it is available via distance education. Courses are sequenced so that students can complete the degree in two years including summer semesters. The degree prepares students to work in various areas of the criminal justice system including, but not limited to, field positions, administration, organizational management, and social services. Students who are potentially interested in applying for the Ph.D. program should apply for the Master of Arts in Criminal Justice and Criminology.

Applications to the Master of Science in Criminal Justice program are on a rolling basis, where the fall semester deadline is August 1, and the spring semester deadline is November 1.
