The Department of World Languages & Cultures (WOLC) at SHSU is a multi-lingual department engaged in researching and teaching a host of world languages.

Mission

The Department of World Languages and Cultures (WOLC) offers a wide array of language and culture courses in Arabic/Middle Eastern Studies, American Sign Language, French, German, and Spanish. Our students become leaders, professionals and innovators in community, national and international organizations, and in professions of law, education, and business, and more. Through our commitment to a better understanding of world cultures and languages, we proudly sponsor the Arnaud and Edwards as well as the Mozelle Powell endowment scholarships that have enabled our students to pursue the study of world languages both on the SHSU campus and abroad.

The department's dedicated faculty conduct cutting-edge scholarship in languages, cultures and literatures as they intersect globally-engaged issues on diversity, multilingualism and multiculturalism. Our faculty have published numerous books and research articles in these areas and beyond. With rigor we devote ourselves to understanding the cultural impact and transformative potential of languages and cultures in a global community.

Highlights

We are invested in innovative inquiry in fields that intersect and complement languages and cultures such as Art, Literature, Cultural Studies, Film, Media, Legal Studies, Gender and Sexuality Studies, Applied Linguistics and Translation Studies. At the forefront of innovative pedagogy and scholarly inquiry, WOLC offers courses at all levels of undergraduate and the MA at the graduate level in a variety of flexible and convenient formats to enable the exploration of the tensile ways and possibilities of learning and studying languages, literatures and cultures.

Our signature study abroad programs in Costa Rica, Germany, and Quebec are led by our own faculty or offer students a chance to enroll in programs directly in host country. Together with our clubs and organizations (<https://www.shsu.edu/academics/foreign-languages/clubsandassociations.html>) the Department of World Languages and Cultures organizes campus wide events, performances, lectures, and discussions on a host of topics critical to our understanding of multilingual diversity in a global world.

Suggested Minors

WOLC offers a wide range of language, culture, and professional courses for minors in Business; Communication Studies; Criminal Justice; Elementary and Secondary Education; Health; Latin American and LatinX Studies; Mass Communication; and Political Science. Minors in other fields will also develop essential critical thinking and intercultural communication skills through language and culture study.

Career Opportunities

Studying language(s) and culture(s) provides valuable training for students pursuing careers in a variety of fields, including business, criminal justice and law, education, healthcare, political and public administration, publishing and media industries, and social work, among many others. These expanding career fields seek students with a solid and critical interpretation of multicultural and multilingual communities. Studying language and culture equips students with crucial skills for lifelong learning and professional development. In an increasingly global market, we prepare our students for a bright future in the professional world and in graduate work.

Student Organizations and Activities

The World Languages and Cultures Department sponsors many student organizations and activities that enhance Sam Houston State University's multilingual and multicultural communities.

Study in America/Abroad

WOLC offers faculty-led or affiliated summer study away programs (<https://www.shsu.edu/academics/foreign-languages/studyabroad.html>). These intensive courses are designed to improve students' linguistic and cultural competence and offer a fantastic chance to experience the cultures of the world in conjunction with courses of study at SHSU.

Students can complete basic/intermediate courses or major/minor courses, or simply use the study away experience to improve language skills and cultural competency. Visit International Programs (<https://www.shsu.edu/dept/international-programs/>) for more information about study away.

Scholarships

Scholarships: Students in languages may apply for the Foreign Languages Scholarship, for the Mozelle Powell Spanish Scholarship, and/or for the Seola Arnaud & R.V. Edwards, Jr. Endowed French Scholarship. For more information, apply on line at Scholar X and contact the Department of World Languages and Cultures office or visit Foreign Languages (<http://www.shsu.edu/academics/foreign-languages/>). Information on University scholarships may be obtained at the Office of Academic Scholarships or by telephone (936) 294-1672.
