

MASTER OF ARTS IN COUNSELING

The Master of Arts in Counseling degree offers the following program of study: Clinical Mental Health Counseling.

The Clinical Mental Health Counseling (CMHC) program is a CACREP-accredited 60-hour program. Click here to see the value of attending a CACREP-accredited program (<https://www.cacrep.org/value-of-accreditation/why-should-i-choose-an-accredited-program/>). Students select the Clinical Mental Health Counseling program if they want to complete coursework needed in the State of Texas to apply for licensure as a Licensed Professional Counselor (LPC).

A comprehensive examination is required for graduation and is taken when enrolled in Supervised Practicum (COUN 6376 (<http://catalog.shsu.edu/archives/2022-2023/search/?P=COUN%206376>)). Students must be enrolled in the university when taking the comprehensive examination and when applying for graduation.

CMHC Program - Preparation for Licensed Professional Counselor

Students completing the Clinical Mental Health Counseling (CMHC) program will have the academic and clinical experience requirements needed to apply for a Licensed Professional Counselor-Associate (LPC-Associate) in the state of Texas. Students may also choose electives that provide them with more specific training for working with special populations (e.g., play therapy, trauma, etc.). LPC-Associates are qualified to work under supervision in a variety of mental health settings, including private practice, non-profit counseling agencies, hospitals, correctional settings, college counseling centers, substance-abuse treatment centers, etc. Once fully licensed (LPC), graduates of this program may work independently in private practice and other mental health settings. Additionally, CMHC students interested in play therapy can add on a Graduate Certificate in Play Therapy.

Applications for entrance into the Master of Arts in Counseling (CMHC) are accepted for Fall and Spring admission. The Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board (THECB) marketable skills initiative is part of the state's 60x30TX plan and was designed to help students articulate their skills to employers. Marketable skills are those skills valued by employers and/or graduate programs that can be applied in a variety of work or education settings and may include interpersonal, cognitive, and applied skill areas.

The MA in Counseling is designed to provide graduates with the following marketable skills:

- Higher-order thinking.
- Oral and written communication.
- Professional conduct and ethical behavior.
- Multicultural and diversity competencies.
- Self-awareness of inter/intrapersonal relationships.
- Ability to apply counseling and development knowledge to professional practice.
