Academic Success Center

The Academic Success Center offers a variety of academic support programs for SHSU students. These services include CRLA-certified peer tutoring programs for writing and math, online tutoring for writing and math, and a supplemental instruction program. The ASC's services are available for all undergraduate and graduate students currently enrolled in SHSU.

The ASC's writing tutoring program offers one-on-one tutoring sessions and small group instruction designed to help individuals become more successful, more confident writers. Students may seek assistance for any type of writing, ranging from freshman essays and research papers to theses, dissertations, and resumes. The ASC also features online writing tutoring and workshops designed to improve college-level reading strategies. Additionally, the ASC's math tutoring program provides one-on-one and small-group assistance for students seeking help in math, statistics, and math-based science courses such as chemistry and physics. The ASC offers a full schedule of workshops and seminars for academic success or academic recovery. Academic Success Peer Mentors are available for one-on-one assistance for students seeking improvement in study habits.

On the main campus, the Academic Success Center (<http://www.shsu.edu/centers/academic-success-center/>) is located in the Newton Gresham Library. The ASC can be contacted by calling (936) 294-3680.

Advising (Student Advising and Mentoring Center)

At the Student Advising and Mentoring Center (SAM Center), we value each student as an individual and believe that advising is a shared responsibility with the student.

Our professional advisors are highly skilled experts in student development and degree planning, and we strive to provide students with personalized, holistic, success-based academic advising and support. We strongly believe in the importance of academic advising in student achievement, retention, and degree completion.

Whether you are an entering freshman, returning student, transfer student, prospective student, or a current undergraduate student, you can expect to learn about campus processes, be directed to beneficial resources for your success, and work with advisors on career and major exploration along with course planning to build the best university experience possible for you.

The SAM Center is located on the Huntsville campus on the first floor, Suites 170 and 190, of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences Building (CHSS). You can reach the SAM Center (samcenter@shsu.edu) by e-mailing or calling at 936-294-4444, or toll free at 866-364-5211.

Not sure who your advisor is or how to make your appointment? Visit the SAM Center Website (<https://www.shsu.edu/centers/sam-center/>) to view Who is My Advisor (<https://www.shsu.edu/centers/sam-center/whos-my-advisor/>) and How to Get Advised (<https://www.shsu.edu/centers/sam-center/how-do-i-get-advised/>).

Institutional Effectiveness

The Office of Institutional Effectiveness (IE) is a Sam Houston State University administrative service and support unit, incorporating Institutional Research, Administrative Program Review, and Legislative Research, aligned under the Division of Enrollment Management (<https://www.shsu.edu/dept/enrollment-management/>).

Institutional Research

It is the mission of the Institutional Research function to collect, analyze, appraise, report and disseminate data on behalf of the University, its executive administration and its educational leaders for the purpose of promoting evidence-based reflection, planning, and action. The IE office provides information and conducts research studies to comply with federal, state and other reporting mandates, and to assess policy, programs and special initiatives.

To request assistance with obtaining data, access to existing reports, and information about external data resources, SHSU employees with network access may submit a work order request/request a report (<https://cherwell.shsu.edu/CherwellPortal/Employee/>). A data dictionary, Data Cookbook (<https://shsu.datacookbook.com/>), is available to individuals with SHSU network log in credentials to review descriptions of existing reports (specifications) and data terms (definitions). SHSU uses Cognos as the reporting tool, and links to the Cognos reports are included in Data Cookbook. Various reports require prior training and/or approval, and SHSU Cognos users are encouraged to read about these details in Data Cookbook. A

Data Cookbook introductory tutorial (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=n8VowQurkWo&feature=youtu.be>) is available for additional assistance. Questions about Cognos and Data Cookbook can be directed to IE (<http://www.shsu.edu/dept/institutional-effectiveness/aboutus.html>) or to SHSU Information Resources Service Desk (<http://www.shsu.edu/dept/client-services/service-desk.html>) personnel.

Administrative Program Review

Administrative Program Review consists of the review and evaluation of non-academic programs/departments for the purpose of identifying, planning and documenting continuous improvement.

Legislative Research

Legislative Research activity includes coordination of state and federal legislative and policy matters along the University's administrative structure, horizontally and vertically. Application of state and federal laws, preparation of fiscal notes, and potential legislative impact analysis are examples of the nature of these matters. IE relies on Governmental Relations staff in the office of the Texas State University System for communication with legislators and for guidance in coordinating system-wide legislative initiatives.

IT@SAM

IT@Sam provides a variety of technology services to enable student success.

Support of Teaching/Learning Environments

IT@Sam supports and maintains instructional environments, including computer labs and classrooms. These spaces are equipped with: Windows and Macintosh computers, up-to-date software, web cameras, printers, and scanners. A few labs have additional, course-specific software titles available. For a complete list of labs and their available technology equipment, view the IT@Sam Computer Lab website (<https://www.shsu.edu/computerlabs/>).

In addition, the SamNet wireless network (<https://www.shsu.edu/dept/it@sam/tech-tutorials/samnet/>) is available throughout all buildings and most outdoor locations at each campus. This allows you to use your own device to access online resources while on campus.

Some resources, including Microsoft Office 365, are available for off campus use. For a full list of off campus resources visit the IT@Sam Work and Learn Remotely (<https://www.shsu.edu/dept/it@sam/tech-tutorials/working-remotely/>) website.

For additional questions or assistance regarding technology at SHSU, contact the IT@Sam Service Desk (<mailto:servicedesk@shsu.edu>).

Newton Gresham Library

The Newton Gresham Library (NGL) contains more than 1.2 million print books, periodicals, audio and visual materials, and microforms. Students have access to over 600,000 eBooks, online journals and newspapers, as well as streaming media resources through the Library website. The Library also acts as a Federal and State government documents depository, providing access to almost 200,000 print and online documents. The library maintains licenses to over 400 online databases (<https://shsulibraryguides.org/az.php>). Books, articles, documents, and other items which are not available locally may be requested via the Library's Interlibrary Loan service.

SHSU Special Collections in the Thomason Room on the Library's 4th floor holds over 22,000 rare books and research collections on Texas, the Southwest, American authors, the Civil War, Criminal Justice, and other topics. University Archives, also located on the 4th floor of the Library, preserves the history of the campus. The Newton Gresham Library's general collection includes popular and recreational reading materials, tabletop games, a children's literature collection, a music and scores collection, and materials to help teachers create lesson plans. Creative, research and study spaces at the Library include: a music listening room, 35 individual study carrels, over a dozen technology equipped group study and seminar spaces, a video recording studio, a copy center, including a public fax machine and poster printing, as well as a mother's room, vending machines, outdoor seating, and a Starbucks all provided for the convenience of students and faculty.

Twenty librarians, twenty-nine support staff, and scores of student assistants provide reference, interlibrary loan, circulation, acquisitions, and other library services to the faculty, staff, and students of the University as well as to visiting scholars and off-campus users. Distance Learners will find librarians embedded in their online classes. A full-time librarian provides assistance to students at The Woodlands Center, and at the College of Osteopathic Medicine. A computer lab, staffed by Computer Services department, is available during regular library hours. Over 75 networked workstations in this lab may be used to access the students' personal computer space as well as the library's resources. To assist library users in utilizing library materials and services, librarians developed online guides available on the Library's website. Librarians also provide access to information and help in using the library's resources and services to students on- and off-campus with online chat (see Ask A Librarian (<https://library.shsu.edu/>) on the Library's homepage), e-mail, and by phone. Two active-learning spaces have been recently completed for use in library instructional sessions, and in support of other campus teaching and training activities. Finally, the Academic Success Center (ASC) has recently been relocated to the 2nd floor of the Library, providing academic coaching, First-Year experience, peer mentoring, and tutoring services for all students.

SHSU Online

Mission Statement

SHSU Online enables citizens in Texas and beyond to further their education, find meaningful employment, earn higher wages, and improve their quality of life. We support faculty, students, and staff throughout the online teaching and learning journey.
