DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

About
The Department of Political Science has 17 full-time faculty members. The department offers two graduate programs: Master of Arts in Political Science and Master of Arts in Public Administration. Both programs are offered fully online. Courses are offered summer, fall, and spring.

Chair
Tamara Waggener (POL_TAW@shsu.edu)

Mission
The mission of the Department of Political Science is to provide students with theoretical knowledge and understanding of core concepts and principles in political science and public administration and to help students develop practical experience and skills necessary for professional careers in the 21st century.

Department Contact Information
(936) 294-1457
CHSS Building 490
polsci@shsu.edu

Graduate Director Contact Information
Masters of Political Science
ma_pols@shsu.edu

Masters of Public Administration
mpa@shsu.edu (wukich@shsu.edu)

Website
Department of Political Science (http://www.shsu.edu/academics/political-science)

- Master of Arts in Political Science
- Master of Public Administration (M.P.A.)
- Graduate Certificate in Political Science

The department offers courses in five areas:

- American government and politics
- International relations and foreign policy
- Comparative politics
- Public administration
- Political theory and methodology

Students should consult with their advisor as to what mix of these areas best meets their needs.

Political Science

POLS 5319. Women in Politics. 3 Hours.
In this course students examine the role of women in politics, including the origins and implications of gender differences, women as political participants, women as political candidates, and women as political office holders.
Prerequisite: Admission to the MA in Political Science program or departmental approval.

POLS 5330. American Politics. 3 Hours.
This course offers an overview of the scholarship in the fields of American national political institutions, and political behavior. The course explores Congress, the Presidency, the Judiciary, political ideology, attitudes and beliefs, public opinion, voting behavior, political parties, interest groups, and mass movements. The course covers classics in the literature of the sub-fields as well as current research questions and controversies. Students will engage in research and writing. Students not enrolled in the Master of Political Science program must obtain the Department of Political Science Graduate Director's permission to enroll in this course.

POLS 5334. Judicial Politics. 3 Hours.
In this course, students explore the American judicial system and American judicial politics. They examine the function and operation of the judiciary, including the role and operation of the U.S. Supreme Court, the origins and function of judicial power, and methods of judicial selection.
Prerequisite: Admission to the MA in Political Science program or departmental approval.
POL 5336. The U.S. Presidency. 3 Hours.

In this course students evaluate the structure, powers, and place of the presidency in the American constitutional order. Students examine changes in presidential power from the Founding to the contemporary era.

Prerequisite: Admission to the MA in Political Science program or departmental approval.

POL 5337. The U.S. Congress. 3 Hours.

In this course students explore the structure, powers, organization, procedures, and operations of the U.S. Congress. Topics include the selection of legislators; legislative leadership; the influence of lobbyists, political parties, legislative committees, and executives; legislative roles and norms. Students also examine the structure of Congress, congressional elections, representation, and policymaking.

Prerequisite: Admission to the MA in Political Science program or departmental approval.

POL 5339. American Political Parties. 3 Hours.

Students in this course examine political parties in American politics. Topics may include party formation, ideologies, and party functions in government, elections, and organization.

Prerequisite: Admission to the MA in Political Science program or departmental approval.

POL 5340. Political Attitudes & Behavior. 3 Hours.

Students in this course explore individuals’ attitudes and behaviors regarding politics. They analyze the determinants, formation, and expression of ideology and partisanship. Students also explore individuals’ political participation, particularly voting behavior. The course is research oriented, with an emphasis on pursuing new directions in research.

Prerequisite: Admission to the MA in Political Science program or departmental approval.

POL 5360. Seminar In American Politics. 3 Hours.

The course covers the relevant literature and engages students in appropriate research. The course may be repeated for credit when the announced topics vary. Students not enrolled in the Master of Political Science program must obtain the Department of Political Science Graduate Director’s permission to enroll in this course.

POL 5362. Seminar In Political Theory. 3 Hours.

The course covers the relevant literature and engages students in appropriate research. The course may be repeated for credit when the announced topics vary. Students not enrolled in the Master of Political Science program must obtain the Department of Political Science Graduate Director’s permission to enroll in this course.

POL 5364. Media & Politics. 3 Hours.

In this course students explore the role and impact of the media on U.S. politics. Students examine the impact of the media on campaigns and election outcomes, the media as a source of political information, the agenda setting power of the media, the role of the “free press” in a democracy, and citizens’ relationship to the media.

Prerequisite: Admission to the MA in Political Science program or departmental approval.

POL 5366. Seminar In International Relations. 3 Hours.

The course covers the relevant literature and engages students in appropriate research. The course may be repeated for credit when the announced topics vary. Students not enrolled in the Master of Political Science program must obtain the Department of Political Science Graduate Director’s permission to enroll in this course.

POL 5367. Comparative Politics. 3 Hours.

A comprehensive overview of the theories, concepts, and methods of comparative analysis. The techniques of comparing political systems are examined, as are the major concepts of comparative politics, such as political elites, institutions, public policy, development and modernization, elections and political behavior, mass movements, and revolution and political violence. The course covers the relevant literature and engages students in appropriate research. Students not enrolled in the Master of Political Science program must obtain the Department of Political Science Graduate Director’s permission to enroll in this course.

POL 5372. Seminar In Comparative Politic. 3 Hours.

The seminar will focus on such topics as political development, sustainability, comparative institutions, comparative public policy, transitions to democracy, and opinions and behavior. The seminar may also focus on one or more regions or individual countries. The course covers the relevant literature and engages students in appropriate research. The course may be repeated for credit when the announced topics differ. Students not enrolled in the Master of Political Science program must obtain the Department of Political Science Graduate Director’s permission to enroll in this course.

POL 5373. International Relations. 3 Hours.

This study places emphasis on the attempts to construct a general theory of international relations and the evolution of international relations methodology. Attention is also given to such techniques as systems analysis, decision-making, conflict resolution, and field theory. The course covers the relevant literature and engages students in appropriate research. Students not enrolled in the Master of Political Science program must obtain the Department of Political Science Graduate Director’s permission to enroll in this course.

POL 5377. Scope & Mth Of Political Sci. 3 Hours.

This is a study of the discipline of modern political science and an inquiry into the literature, scope, and techniques of research with particular emphasis upon the mathematical and quantitative methods of empirical research. Students not enrolled in the Master of Political Science program must obtain the Department of Political Science Graduate Director’s permission to enroll in this course.
POLS 5378. Problems/Internships- Pol Sci. 3 Hours.
This course is designed for topics in which the subject cuts across two or more areas of concentration. The course may be taken on an individual basis with the permission of the Political Science Department Chair. The course covers the relevant literature and engages students in appropriate research and/or professional practice. May be repeated when topic varies. Students not enrolled in the Master of Political Science program must obtain the Department of Political Science Graduate Director's permission to enroll in this course.

POLS 5379. Workshop: Teaching Political Sci. 3 Hours.
Developed specifically for public school teachers, the course will offer a variety of topics useful to classroom teaching. Topics will vary according to need and the instructor but may include Texas politics, constitutional issues, current elections, and using technology in the classroom. The course covers the relevant literature and engages students in appropriate research and/or professional practice. The course may be repeated for credit when the announced topics differ. Students not enrolled in the Master of Political Science program must obtain the Department of Political Science Graduate Director's permission to enroll in this course.

POLS 5380. Sem in Public Administration. 3 Hours.
The course covers the relevant literature and engages students in appropriate research. The course may be repeated for credit when the announced topics vary. Students not enrolled in the Master of Political Science program must obtain the permission to enroll in this course.

POLS 5381. Dynamics Of Public Administrtn. 3 Hours.
Examines the history and theoretical basis of public administration and the basic issues that confront it, including administrative responsibility and ethics, and the formulation and implementation of public policy. Students not enrolled in the Master of Public Administration program must obtain the permission to enroll in this course.

POLS 5382. Program Evaluation. 3 Hours.
Examines techniques for the collection, manipulation, interpretation, and presentation of data and information in public policy/management processes, and demonstrates application of the techniques using computer technology. The course covers the relevant literature and engages students in appropriate research and/or professional practice. Students not enrolled in the Master of Public Administration program must obtain the permission to enroll in this course.

POLS 5383. Organizational Theory & Behavr. 3 Hours.
This course covers the major topics, issues, and contributions in the literature on organizations, their structures and functions, and the behavior of people in them, with emphasis on applications to government and nonprofit organizations. Examples and exercises refer to organizations at federal, state, and local levels of government and to a variety of nonprofit organizations, such as hospitals, social service agencies, and faith-based/non-governmental organizations. Students not enrolled in the Master of Public Administration program must obtain the permission to enroll in this course.

POLS 5384. Human Resource Management. 3 Hours.
This course provides an understanding of the evolution and context of the public service. The reasons for merit and its unique political and management problems are addressed. Specific topics include: human resources planning, recruitment and selection, performance evaluation, compensation, promotion and benefits, staff development, labor relations, discipline, and control structures. Students not enrolled in the Master of Public Administration program must obtain the permission to enroll in this course.
PADM 5387. Public Budgeting and Finance. 3 Hours.
Examination of the public budgetary process and related financial management techniques. Students not enrolled in the Master of Public Administration program must obtain the Department of Political Science Graduate Director’s permission to enroll in this course.

PADM 5388. Ethics In Government. 3 Hours.
This course provides a review of classical and contemporary literature on the role and practice of ethics in public administration. Contemporary empirical research, case studies, and ethical problem solving are also addressed. A primary theme of the course will be fostering and applying ?right action? and ?good conduct? in public organizations and public policy making. Students not enrolled in the Master of Public Administration program must obtain the Department of Political Science Graduate Director’s permission to enroll in this course.

PADM 5389. Public Management. 3 Hours.
This course examines current public management techniques and theories with a specific focus on organizations in the public and nonprofit sectors. The course prepares students to evaluate current management approaches in the public and nonprofit sectors with a specific focus on application of the approaches in the field. Topics will include theories related to the field of public management, the political context of public management, contracting out, networking, strategic management and planning, performance management, and public participation. Students not enrolled in the Master of Public Administration program must obtain the Department of Political Science Graduate Director’s permission to enroll in this course.

Prerequisite: Graduate standing in MPA program or departmental approval.

PADM 5390. Global Disaster Politics. 3 Hours.
This course explores the politics that underpin the phases of disaster management globally. It emphasizes a comparative analytical approach for drawing inferences and lessons about the effects of politics on different localities and contexts.

Prerequisite: Admission to the Master of Public Administration program or departmental approval.

PADM 5391. Emergency Management. 3 Hours.
This course examines the system of emergency management in the U.S. It applies Public Administration frameworks of budgeting, human resources, intergovernmental relations, and decision making to analyze and evaluate emergency management responses.

Prerequisite: Admission to the Master of Public Administration program or departmental approval.

PADM 5392. Decision Making in Pub Adm. 3 Hours.
This course examines theories and practical applications of administrative decision. In public administration, decision are often made under conditions of uncertainty. Students will be guided to evaluate strategies used by public and nonprofit managers to reduce risk and they will be led to create their own strategies through a series of simulation exercises.

Prerequisite: Admission to the Master of Public Administration program or departmental approval.

PADM 5393. Disaster Resilience. 3 Hours.
This course examines theories and conceptual frameworks of disaster resilience. Students evaluate approaches to the measurement of resilience and apply these to create a disaster resilience assessment of a community.

Prerequisite: Admission to the Master of Public Administration program or departmental approval.

Chair: Tamara A. Waggener
Robin M Bittick, PHD (mb004@shsu.edu), Associate Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, Claremont McKenna College; MPA, California St Un-Domínguez Hil; BS, California St Un-Domínguez Hil
Jonathan Nathan Brown, PHD (jnb047@shsu.edu), Assistant Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, Univ of Maryland-College Park; MA, Univ of Maryland-College Park; BA, Indiana University
Rhonda L Callaway, PHD (rlc005@shsu.edu), Associate Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, Univ of North Texas; MA, Univ of North Texas; BA, Univ of Texas At Austin
William E. Carroll, PHD (pol_wec@shsu.edu), Associate Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, Miami University; MA, Miami University; BA, College of New Jersey
Fatih Demiroz, PHD (fxd009@shsu.edu), Assistant Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, Univ of Central Florida; MPA, Univ of Central Florida; BA, Yeditepe University
John C Domino, PHD (pol_jcd@shsu.edu), Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, Miami University; MA, Eastern Kentucky University; BA, Florida-Atlantic U
Jason S Enia, PHD (jasomienia@shsu.edu), Associate Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, Univ of Southern California; MA, Fordham University; BA, Univ of Dayton; BA, Univ of Dayton
Heather Kristen Evans, PHD (hke002@shsu.edu), Associate Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, Indiana University; MA, Indiana University; BA, Berea College
Thomas W Haase, PHD (twh024@shsu.edu), Assistant Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, University of Pittsburgh; JD, University of Pittsburgh; BA, Chadron State College; BA, Chadron State College
Masoud Kazemzadeh, PHD (mxk002@shsu.edu), Associate Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, Univ of Southern California; MA, Univ of Southern California; BA, Univ of Minnesota-Twin Cities

Kenneth Bruce McIntyre, PHD (kbm014@shsu.edu), Associate Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, Tulane University; MS, University of Wales; MA, Tulane University; BA, Princeton University

Eric P Svensen, PHD (eps007@shsu.edu), Assistant Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, Univ of Texas At Austin; MA, Univ of Texas At Austin; BA, San Diego City Coll

Stacy Gwenn Ulbig, PHD (sgu001@shsu.edu), Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, Rice University; MA, Rice University; BA, Univ of St Thomas

Tamara A. Waggener, PHD (pol_taw@shsu.edu), Associate Professor and Chair of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, Univ of Texas At Austin; BA, Cal Poly St-Pomona

Interim Faculty

Wen Jiun Wang, PHD (wjwang@shsu.edu), Visiting Assistant Professor of Political Science, Department of Political Science, PHD, University of Pittsburgh; MA, National Taipei University; BA, National Taipei University; BBA, National Taipei University