

MASTER OF FINE ARTS IN DANCE

The Department of Dance at Sam Houston State University offers a 60-hour program of study leading to the Master of Fine Arts degree in Dance, the terminal degree in studio arts. The degree normally takes three years to complete. The program is designed to provide intensive studio experience with substantive choreographic and performance opportunities, underscored by a broad exposure to the philosophical, theoretical, and creative process context of dance as an art form. A creative or performance thesis is required for graduation. Competitive Graduate Assistantships are awarded each year to students based on qualifications and academic standing. A returning professional track is available for qualified candidates.

The curriculum emphasizes choreography and performance, including a significant number of dance technique classes, particularly for candidates coming directly from undergraduate study. Dance professionals in career transitions will find that the program allows considerable latitude to formulate plans of study that meet their needs. The curriculum also includes courses in:

- Composition
- Production
- Dance theory
- Pedagogy
- Somatics
- Research methods
- Integrated technology
- Professional issues in dance

Elective hours may be used outside the Department of Dance for coursework that may apply to the candidate's thesis production or other research interests.

In addition to the online application for admission to SHSU graduate studies, prospective MFA students must also demonstrate preparation for graduate study in dance to the dance faculty.
