Academic Success Center

The Academic Success Center offers a variety of academic support programs for SHSU students. These services include CRLA-certified peer tutoring programs for writing, math, core science, business, world languages, and more.

The ASC provides writing, reading, and world language support offering one-on-one 30-minute and 60-minute sessions. Small group sessions can also be an option pending class session and instructor. The overall goal is to help individuals become more successful, more confident writers and learners. Students may seek writing assistance ranging from freshman essays to theses and dissertations. In addition, our STEM tutoring program provides one-on-one and small group assistance for students seeking support in math, statistics, and a variety of sciences. The ASC offers study groups in math and chemistry. Also, the ASC has embedded tutors that support students within selected courses and provide feedback to instructors on learning challenges that students may face.

The ASC offers Learning Coaches to help students balance the demands of college by guiding students through areas such as accountability, time management, study skills, note taking, test preparation, and goal setting. Our Recovery Coaches work with students on first-time academic probation or students on first-time academic suspension. Students on probation will learn academic recovery strategies and methods related to university policies, resources, communication techniques, wellness, and setting. Students on academic suspension are guided to get back to good academic standing by constructing a recovery plan that includes forming connections with instructors, reaching goals, and identifying and utilizing campus resources.

The ASC also offers workshops and seminars for academic success or academic recovery facilitated by learning coaches, recovery coaches, and professional staff.

ASC services are available for all undergraduate and graduate students currently enrolled in SHSU. Services are available in-person and virtually on main campus and at The Woodlands Center. On the main campus, the Academic Success Center (<http://www.shsu.edu/centers/academic-success-center/>) is located in the Newton Gresham Library. The ASC can be contacted by calling (936) 294-3680.

Advising (Student Advising and Mentoring Center)

At the Student Advising and Mentoring Center (SAM Center), we value each student as an individual and believe that advising is a shared responsibility with the student.

Our professional advisors are highly skilled experts in student development and degree planning, and we strive to provide students with personalized, holistic, success-based academic advising and support. We strongly believe in the importance of academic advising in student achievement, retention, and degree completion.

Whether you are an entering freshman, returning student, transfer student, prospective student, or a current undergraduate student, you can expect to learn about campus processes, be directed to beneficial resources for your success, and work with advisors on major exploration along with course planning to build the best university experience possible for you.

The SAM Center is located on the Huntsville campus on the first floor, Suites 170 and 190, of the College of Humanities and Social Sciences Building (CHSS). You can reach the SAM Center (samcenter@shsu.edu) by e-mailing or calling (936) 294-4444 or toll free at (866) 364-5211.

Data Analytics and Decision Support (DADS)

Data Analytics and Decision Support (DADS) is a Sam Houston State University administrative service and support unit aligned under Strategic Enrollment & Innovation (SEI). The unit is comprised of three areas: Institutional Research (IR), Data Analytics, and Data Literacy/Data Governance.

It is the mission of the Data Analytics and Decision Support function to collect, analyze, appraise, report and disseminate data on behalf of the University, its executive administration and its educational leaders for the purpose of promoting evidence-based reflection, planning, and action. The DADS team provides information and conducts research studies to comply with federal, state and other reporting mandates, and to assess policy, programs and special initiatives. DADS is also responsible for certifying SHSU's official student data to the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board (THECB).

To request assistance with obtaining data, access to existing reports, and information about external data resources, SHSU employees with network access may submit a work order request/request a report (https://cherwell.shsu.edu/CherwellPortal/Employee/?_28a7b9fa#0). A data dictionary, Data Cookbook (<https://www.shsu.edu/offices-departments/data-analytics-decision-support/data-cookbook/>), is available to individuals with SHSU network log in credentials to review descriptions of existing reports (specifications) and data terms (definitions). SHSU uses Cognos as the reporting tool, and links to the Cognos reports are included in Data Cookbook. Various reports require prior training and/or approval, and SHSU Cognos users are encouraged to read about these details in Data Cookbook. A Data Cookbook introductory tutorial (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=n8VowQurkWo>) is available for additional assistance. Questions about Cognos and Data Cookbook can be directed to our staff (<https://www.shsu.edu/offices-departments/data-analytics-decision-support/people/>).

Newton Gresham Library

The Newton Gresham Library (NGL) contains more than 1.2 million print books, periodicals, audio and visual materials, and microforms. Students have access to over 800,000 eBooks, online journals and newspapers, as well as streaming media resources through the Library website. The Library also acts as a Federal and State government documents depository, providing access to almost 200,000 print and online documents. The library maintains licenses to over 400 online databases (<https://shsulibraryguides.org/az.php>). Books, articles, documents, and other items which are not available locally may be requested via the Library's Interlibrary Loan service.

SHSU Special Collections in the Thomason Room on the Library's 4th floor holds over 22,000 rare books and research collections on Texas, the Southwest, American authors, the Civil War, Criminal Justice, and other topics. University Archives, also located on the 4th floor of the Library, preserves the history of the campus. The Newton Gresham Library's general collection includes popular and recreational reading materials, tabletop games, a children's literature collection, a music and scores collection, and materials to help teachers create lesson plans. Creative, research and study spaces at the Library include: a music listening room, 35 individual study carrels, eight technology equipped group study and seminar spaces, a video recording studio, a copy center (including faxing, poster printing, and more), as well as a lactation room, vending machines, outdoor seating, and a Starbucks—all provided for the convenience of students and faculty.

Twenty-one librarians, twenty-nine support staff, and scores of student assistants provide reference, interlibrary loan, circulation, acquisitions, and other library services to the faculty, staff, and students of the University as well as to visiting scholars and off-campus users. Distance Learners will find librarians embedded in their online classes. A full-time librarian provides assistance to students at The Woodlands Center, and at the College of Osteopathic Medicine. A computer lab with over 75 networked workstations is available during regular library hours, and staffed by IT@Sam. To assist library users in utilizing library materials and services, librarians developed online guides available on the Library's website. Librarians also provide access to information and help in using the library's resources and services to students on- and off-campus with online chat (see Ask A Librarian (<https://library.shsu.edu/>) on the Library's homepage), e-mail, and by phone. Two active-learning spaces have been recently completed for use in library instructional sessions, and in support of other campus teaching and training activities. Finally, the Academic Success Center (ASC) and the First-Generation Center (<https://www.shsu.edu/dept/firstgen/>) are located 2nd floor of the Library, providing academic coaching, First-Year experience, peer mentoring, and tutoring services for all students.
